

Social and Personal.

The Joy.

The joy is in the doing;
Not the deed that's done;
The swift and glad pursuing
Not the goal that's won.

The joy is in the seeing,
Not in what we see;
The ecstasy of vision,
Far and clear and free!

The joy is in the singing,
Whether heard or no;
The power of sweet capture,
And song's divinest flow!

The joy is in the being—
Joy of life and breath;
Joy of a soul triumphant,
Conqueror of death!

Is there a flaw in the marble?
Sculptor, do your best;
The joy is in the endeavor—
Leave to God the rest!

—Julia C. R. Dorr, in Smart Set.

Charming Crystal Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Lea celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage day by a crystal wedding, given in their handsome residence, No. 114 East Clay Street, Saturday evening, November 19th. The large parlors were veritable bowers of beauty, grouped as they were with coccia palms, dwarf palmettos, growing plants and yellow chrysanthemums throughout.

The hostess and bride of the occasion was tastefully gowned in white organza over tulle. Her little daughter, Marian, was lovely in white organza and blue ribbons. The guests were seated in the large parlors, which were filled with guests. The evening was a joy to all.

Among the invited guests were: Mrs. J. G. Corley, Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, Mrs. Annie Vaughan, Mrs. William Beard, Mrs. Vines, Mrs. John Z. Walker, Mrs. J. E. Redford, Mrs. Merchant, Mrs. A. T. Atwell, Mrs. Charles Thornton, Mrs. John E. Uitz, Mrs. Clarence Vaden, Mrs. John Shotwell, Misses Roker, Black, Lurty, Shipley, Rangely, McDonough, Hales, Shuck, Lister, Edna, William, Philip, Morgan, Randolph, Brown, Norvell, Orchard, Feamster, Bibb, Hayes, Hart, Hall, Otter, Lowmy, H. McGhee, Alsop, Patch, and Spencer; Mrs. Beard, Mrs. Boudier, Mrs. Stuart, Mrs. Turpin, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Shuck, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. John Knott, Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Fred Patch, Mrs. C. E. Duval, Mrs. Fay Duval, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Lathgow, Mrs. Gary, Mrs. Lena Vaden, Mrs. W. I. Clifton, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. W. H. Lawton, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Charles Page, Mrs. Irvin Smith, Mrs. Hughes Bagby, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Beattie, Mrs. Sherry, Misses John, Trent, Seay, Goss, Barber, Wallace, Chambers, Boydon, Montgomery, B. Dilling, Anderson, Waddill and others.

A most delicious collation and inspiring music made the evening one of great pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown Potter, of New York, who have been at the Jefferson Hotel for several days, were given a surprise party by Mrs. John Dunlop yesterday afternoon, at which Mrs. Potter's most intimate friends in Richmond had the pleasure of meeting her again.

She will leave with Mr. Potter today for Mexico, where they will remain for some time, their intention being to spend the winter in the South.

Mrs. Dashiell at Club.
Mrs. L. R. Dashiell read a delightful paper before the Woman's Club last afternoon on Victor Hugo, the great French poet and author.

Mrs. Dashiell presented Victor Hugo as poet, philosopher, patriot, historian, dramatist and novelist, but, above all, as a poet—the leader and founder of thought in his age and country, and the founder of a new school in France.

She gave a short but vigorous sketch of his early life, his parents, the influence of his childhood and his education, and his development. She quoted many of his poems and introduced a comparison between the poet and Victor Hugo.

His poems, his fiction, his dramas and his miscellaneous writings received discriminating and most interesting criticism at her hands. Her paper was most valuable for its elegance and finish of expression than for its wide scope and the information it contained. It was listened to with great appreciation. Mrs. Dashiell being most heartily congratulated as to her paper.

Chairman's guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Landon Mason, Mrs. T. A. Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Elliot Norton.

No. 347.

VERSES ON DRESS.

By ROBERT HERRICK.

The portrait, autograph and biographical sketch of Robert Herrick have already appeared in this series.

UPON JULIA'S CLOTHES.

When as in silks my Julia goes,
Then, then, methinks, how sweetly flows
That liquefaction of her clothes.

Next, when I cast mine eyes and see
That brave vibration each way free;
O, how that glittering taketh me!

DELIGHT IN DISORDER.

A sweet disorder in the dress
Kindies in clothes a wantonness;
A lawn about the shoulders thrown
Into a fine distraction;
An erring lace, which here and there
Entrhalls the crimson stomacher;
A cuff neglected, and thereby
Ribbons to flow confusedly;
A winning wave, deserving note,
In the tempestuous petticoat;
A careless shoe-string, in whose tie
I see a wild civility;
Do more bewitch me, than when art
Is too precise in every part.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 31, 1903. One is published each day.

Ladies' Morning Musicales.

The Ladies' Morning Musicales met Wednesday afternoon, November 16th, at 4 o'clock.

The afternoon was devoted entirely to the music of Anton Dvorak. Mrs. Thomas was in charge of the programme. After a short but interesting sketch of Dvorak's life, read by Miss Greener, the following programme was rendered:

Slavonic Dance, Op. 46, No. 1, Miss Minor and Miss Burnett.
"Gypsy Songs" (from Gypsy Songs), Mrs. McGhee.
Waltz in A Flat, Miss Mosby.
"Good-Night," Mrs. George Warren.
Slavonic Dance, Op. 46, No. 4, Miss Minor and Miss Burnett.

Mrs. McGhee.
Miss Zelle Minor was the accompanist. Rubenstein day will fall on November 20th. Mrs. Adolphus Blair will be in charge of the programme.

Mrs. Potter Here.
Mr. and Mrs. James Brown Potter, of New York, who have been at the Jefferson Hotel for several days, were given a surprise party by Mrs. John Dunlop yesterday afternoon, at which Mrs. Potter's most intimate friends in Richmond had the pleasure of meeting her again.

She will leave with Mr. Potter today for Mexico, where they will remain for some time, their intention being to spend the winter in the South.

Mrs. Dashiell at Club.
Mrs. L. R. Dashiell read a delightful paper before the Woman's Club last afternoon on Victor Hugo, the great French poet and author.

Mrs. Dashiell presented Victor Hugo as poet, philosopher, patriot, historian, dramatist and novelist, but, above all, as a poet—the leader and founder of thought in his age and country, and the founder of a new school in France.

She gave a short but vigorous sketch of his early life, his parents, the influence of his childhood and his education, and his development. She quoted many of his poems and introduced a comparison between the poet and Victor Hugo.

His poems, his fiction, his dramas and his miscellaneous writings received discriminating and most interesting criticism at her hands. Her paper was most valuable for its elegance and finish of expression than for its wide scope and the information it contained. It was listened to with great appreciation. Mrs. Dashiell being most heartily congratulated as to her paper.

Chairman's guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Landon Mason, Mrs. T. A. Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

In Honor of Miss Waddill.
The Dunville Register of Sunday has the following account of a social campaign paid a Richmond young lady. It says:

Thursday evening last Miss Mary Hunter Bethell, the charming niece of Mrs. John L. Penn, of Dunville, entertained at her home, No. 114 East Clay Street, in honor of Miss Anne Waddill, of Richmond. The entire audience, in green and white, was seated upon cushions, ferns, palms and white chrysanthemums. The music was given by the Orchestra Club in the large hall. The evening was a most successful one, and Miss Waddill was a great success.

Miss Waddill was also a guest at the Christmas Eve party at the Oakwood Club in Manassas Park, where she was given a most successful and danced with Mr. Kenneth Noell.

Valentine Mothers' Club.
The members of the club have been fortunate in the lecturers secured this season. At the October meeting Dr. Moses D. Hoge gave a very valuable talk on "Arrested Development." He held throughout the address the undivided interest of a large and appreciative audience.

Best Sewing Machine Needles

FOR ALL MAKES OF MACHINES ONLY 5 CENTS Per Package.

Postage one cent for 1 to 20 packages. Send Coin or Stamps. State kinds wanted.

Address: THE SINGER MANF CO. 19 West Broad Street, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

suitable for gifts will be for sale, and refreshments will be served. The young dressmakers of the fair will be the members of the auxiliary, who are working earnestly to make it a success, and who, by their deft and ready service, will be sure to attract and to please their patrons.

They are relying confidently on the presence of their friends as inspectors and purchasers of their native wares.

Personal Mention.
Mrs. G. G. Gooch left last afternoon for her home in Staunton, Va., after being the guest of Mrs. R. F. Hunter for the past two weeks.

Misses Grace and Julia Biddood, of this city, were guests of Misses Lou and Zoe Sykes, of Portersville, last Wednesday evening at a beautiful entertainment given by Misses Sykes to the Ladies' Bucher Club.

Hon. Claude A. Swanson and Mrs. Swanson, expect to close their country home, near Chatham, Va., and return to Washington this week.

Mrs. Charles Cullpepper, of Portsmouth, is spending some time with friends in Richmond.

Miss Lella Blair is a guest at the Virginia Female Institute, in Staunton.

Mrs. Hangerford is visiting Mrs. H. D. Oliver, of Norfolk.

Miss Melissa Payne, of Norfolk, and Miss Young, of Raleigh, N. C., will spend Thanksgiving week in Richmond.

Miss Gabriella Page is the guest of Mr. Richard Walker, of York Street, Norfolk.

Miss Mary P. Stevens, Miss Mary Deland, Miss Bertha Stockwell, Miss Alice Agnew, Miss Gertrude Houghton and Miss Lora Low are to be the bridesmaids of the bride at the marriage of Thomas Bloodgood Peck, Jr., at Trinity Church, Norfolk, on Friday, November 25th.

Mr. Cummings will be the matron of honor. Staunton Peck is to be his brother's best man, and the ushers will include Albert W. Putnam and Stanley McGraw. After the ceremony there will be a reception given by the bride's mother.

Miss Marguerite Fitz Gerald Williams, of Washington, will arrive this week to be the guest of Miss Emily Waddill, at No. 25 East Franklin Street.

The Thanksgiving entertaining this year is planned on a lavish scale. Nearly every one of the young society girls will have one or more friends staying with them.

One of the pleasant social functions of the week will be the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tabord next Friday evening, November 25th, by Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Lewis, of Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. Tucker, of Washington, D. C., who will visit Mrs. Emmett Terrill, of this city, on Thanksgiving Day.

Give a Pound Party.
The annual Thanksgiving pound party of the Forget-Me-Not Circle of King's Daughters, will be held to-morrow at No. 284 East Franklin Street.

This pound party will be for the benefit of the Bethany Home, and any donations will be thankfully received by the circle from any friends, who are interested in the work.

These pounds may be left at the above residence on Wednesday evening, between the hours of four and six.

Each contributor is urged to request to bring their pounds and a friend.

Burnett's Extract of Vanilla Prepared from selected Vanilla beans, warranted—Adv.

CUT THIS OUT AND KEEP IT. YOU WILL WANT TO READ THIS STORY LATER, IF NOT NOW.

THE WHITE COMPANY

By A. CONAN DOYLE.

CHAPTER XXXIII—Continued.

Yet here it was that the will of a great prince had now assembled a gallant army; so that from the Adour to the pines of Navarre the barren valley and wind-swept wastes were populous with soldiers and loud with the shouting of orders and the neighing of horses. For the banners of war had been flung to the wind once more, and over those glittering peaks was the highway along which Honor pointed in an age when men had chosen her as their guide.

And now all was ready for the enterprise. From Day to St. Jean Pied-de-nez the country was dotted with the white tents of Gascons, Aquitanians and English, all eager for the advance. From all sides the free companies had trooped in, until not less than twelve thousand of these veteran troops were cantoned along the frontiers of Navarre. From England had arrived the prince's brother, the Duke of Lancaster, with four hundred knights in his train and a strong company of archers. Above all, an heir to the throne had been born in Bordeaux, and the prince himself leave his spouse with an easy mind, for all was well with mother and with child.

The keys of the mountain passes still lay in the hands of the shifty and ignominious Charles of Navarre, who had offered and bargained both with the English and with the Spanish, taking money from the one side to hold them open and from the other to keep them sealed. The mallet-hand of Edward, however, had shattered all the schemes and wiles of the plotter. Neither entreaty nor covertly remonstrance came from the English Prince; but Sir Hugh Calverley passed silently over the border with his company, and the blazing walls of the two cities of Miranda and Puente della Reyna, warned the unfaithful monarch that there were other metals besides gold, and that he was dealing with a man to whom it was unsafe to lie. His price was paid, his objections silenced, and the mountain gorges lay open to the invaders. From the Feast of the Epiphany there was muttering and rumouring, until in the first week of February—three days after the White Company joined the army—the word was given for a general advance through the defile of Roncesvalles. At 5 in the cold winter's morning, the bugles were blowing in the hamlet of St. Jean Pied-de-nez, and by 6 Sir Nigel's Company, three hundred strong, were on their way for the defile, pushing swiftly in the dim light up the steep curving road; for it was the prince's order that they should be the first to pass through, and that they should remain on guard at the further end until the white army had emerged from the mountains. Day was already breaking in the east, and the mummified of the great peaks had turned rosy red, while the valleys still lay in the shadow, when they found themselves with the cliffs on either hand and the long, rugged pass stretching away before them.

Sir Nigel rode his great black war-horse at the head of his archers, dressed in full armor, with Black Simon bearing his banner behind him, while Alayne at his bridle-arm carried his blazoned shield and his well-stepped ash spear. A proud and happy man was the knight, and many a time he turned in his saddle to look at the long column of bowmen who swung swiftly along behind him.

"By Saint Paul! Alayne," said he, "this pass is a very perilous place, and would that the King of Navarre had held it against us! He would have been a very honorable venture had it fallen on us to win a passage. I have heard the innkeepers sing of one Sir Roland who was slain by the Indians in these very parts."

"If it please you, my fair lord," said Black Simon, "I know something of these parts. For I have twice served a term with the King of Navarre. There is a hospice of monks yonder, where you may see the roof among the trees, and there it was that Sir Roland was slain. The village upon the left is Ordelais, and I know howe the right wine of Jurancon is to be bought, if it would please you to quaff a morning cup."

"There is smoke yonder upon the right," said Black Simon, "I know a village named Les Alouettes, and I know a hostel there also where the wine is of the best. It is said that the innkeeper hath a buried treasure, and I doubt not, my fair lord, that if you

JORDAN GOT POT OF MONEY OUT OF SHOW

Boston Man Came Away With Twenty-nine Blue Ribbons and $5,520.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Statistics of the twentieth annual Horse Show, held at Madison Square Garden last week, disclose the fact that Eben D. Jordan, of Boston, was by far the largest winner of ribbons and prizes. His horses carried off no less than twenty-nine first prizes and won $3,870, besides $1,660 in plate.

Nearly all of Mr. Jordan's victories were achieved in the heavy harness classes, where his imported hackneys swept all before them, beating the native trotting bred carriage horses all along the line. For the first time since the Horse Show was established two of the four championship prizes in the open harness classes were won by hackneys, and Mr. Jordan captured both.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, who ranks second among the winning owners, with eight first prizes to her credit, won of them in the hunter classes. C. J. and Harry Hamlin, with seven firsts to their credit, were the largest winners in the trotting division.

The following table shows the winning owners and the prizes won:

Exhibitor.	Prize.	Money.	Prize.
Mrs. T. Hitchcock, Jr.	1st	1,510	500
Mrs. John Gerken	2d	1,240	100
C. J. and H. Hamlin	3d	1,150	100
Alfred G. Vandell	4th	1,100	100
M. H. Tichenor and Co.	5th	1,100	100
Mrs. J. B. M. Grosvenor	6th	1,100	100
Edward R. Lawry	7th	1,100	100
Irvington Stock Farm	8th	1,100	100
B. F. Hawley	9th	1,100	100
Courland H. Smith	10th	1,100	100
James G. Marshall	11th	1,100	100
Miss Frederic West	12th	1,100	100
Alfred G. Macley	13th	1,100	100
William Carr	14th	1,100	100
Alexander Brown	15th	1,100	100
Robert Whitworth	16th	1,100	100
George D. King	17th	1,100	100
W. A. McGibbon	18th	1,100	100
Lawrence Jones	19th	1,100	100
Frances Roche	20th	1,100	100
Edwin H. Weatherbee	21st	1,100	100
Stuart Duncan	22nd	1,100	100
Landtine & Co.	23rd	1,100	100
Miss K. L. Wilkey	24th	1,100	100